Sustainability Workshop & Open House for Earth Day

Mountlake Terrace Developing Strategy for a Sustainable Future

You can celebrate "Earth Day" April 22 at 7 p.m. by participating in a workshop on sustaining the environment as it relates to homes, businesses, organizations, and city government in Mountlake Terrace.

Sustainability is a term that describes taking care of the environment, economy, and social fairness all at the same time—being able to live comfortably without sacrificing the resources of future generations.

Mountlake Terrace is developing a strategy to help achieve a healthy, sustainable future. The workshop will feature ideas about how the city can be more sustainable and give people an opportunity to comment or share their own ideas.

The workshop, scheduled at Mountlake Terrace Library in the large conference room, located at 23300 58th Avenue, will feature speakers at 7 p.m. with time afterward to view displays and give comments about sustainability.

More information about the Sustainability Workshop is available from Shane Hope at (425) 744-6266.
